“ I'm so sorry to hear of Mr. Taylor's passing. I met him one morning at Manner's, a restaurant in Jamestown. We both had been in there eating breakfast on several occasions, and one morning we struck up a conversation. He actually knew my dad very well, and he was in the military with my uncle. So, from that point on, he always had a smile for me every time we crossed paths. He never failed to ask me how my morning was going, how my dad was doing, and what my uncle was up to this week. One morning, he finished eating before I did. When I went to pay my bill, he had paid for not only my meal, but also the meals of my two friends who were eating with me. He was always very kind, and I will never forget that smile or those conversations. My continued prayers are with the family...
