“ There are certain people in our lives that center us, just make us better human beings. Food tastes better because they prepared it, hurt is consoled by their presence, and they make love feel just a little bit greater. My Mommaw was one of these people for me, for many of us. I had her for thirty one years of my life and that was still not long enough. In those thirty one years I have several fond memories of her, in which I will always cherish. Mommaw was a simple woman; she loved nature and all her babies. The woman could literally look at a flower and make it grow and she had the ability to heal a broken heart. She taught me how to live off the land and to appreciate everything beautiful in its landscape. She loved picking greens, hill onions, and digging that ol’ ginseng. She would always say, “I know a good spot” some of which I could never ever get back to again. She knew Rock House and Mann Town as if it were a map on the back of her hand. I loved to hear her tell stories or see her face light up when she talked about the “hollers” she had been through. I loved sharing these places with her; these are the places I will always see her, where her mind and heart always were anyway. She taught us all the importance of family and that love is capable of conquering anything. Mommaw Clara was a beautiful woman she was a fighter, a survivor, the very definition of strength and strong will. She was wisdom and love. If any of you have a story and/or memory you would like to share please feel free to, she would like that.

MN

I have to say that she took me in 23 years ago. Never thought twice about it, never blinked an eye. Anytime Michael and I would argue, Kathy would take my side and granny would take his! The first night we spent away from each other as husband and wife was because of an argument and he ended up on her couch for the night! My kids only knew her as granny, they never worried about "step" or anything else. She was an amazing woman and is going to be missed by many!

Yeah she would always take our side. First telephone number I ever learned was mommaw and poppaws. This is because I knew if I called they would always come get me and mommaw would baby me. If it made mommaw mad enough momma may just get a whoopin lolThere is no one on this earth that will ever be able to love and/or console me like that woman could. She also did not view family by blood she just loved deep and unconditionally. She loved you all and you are right, to her you were never really "step" family. You were and always have been family. We love you all.
