Rickie Jones

Thanks Thelma, he's the last of a dying breed. And had the best sense of humor than any man I've ever known. He was the best daddy in the world. We appreciate you reaching out to us. Thank You

Thank You Pauletta I'm a very blessed person to have had the parents I had. Both lived much longer than what the Bible tells us is the average lifespan. I couldn't ask for God to have made their lives or their deaths any easier on me than what it was. As a child I often thought of the day I'd be left without them and I dreaded the day. Even though they were both healthy most of their lives and definitely at that time I always thought their deaths was just right around the corner. I guess simply because of them being older than most of my friends parents. I Don't know why but I would constantly grieve over that and expect them to be taken from my and gone soon. But the awesome God we know made it so easy on me and my sister that on each of their passings we had to confirm with one another that they were actually gone. This was as we held their hands and cried and prayed. We literally didn't acknowledge either ones death yet while holding their very hand at the time of passing. How much more peaceful could they have possible went. And I believe God showed mercy on them and their passing because He knew how much harder it would have been on us to see them suffer. Thank You Lord for this as one of your many blessing that you regularly bestow on us. Even though it takes us sometimes a week or even longer for us to realize how your plan is always for our best. Again thank you for your condolences they thought a lot of you. We appreciate you if we can ever be of service to you please don't hesitate to let us know immediately. Thank You!!!
