“ To Sandy, my dear Friend (sister), Jill & Stewart. I am so very sorry to learn of Harry’s passing. We had such wonderful memories of sharing fun, family, and lives in Lexington. Being strangers to Lexington, we became close family members between us while we lived there. We shared many get togethers and dinners with each other during those years. There were many Saturdays spent taking care of the Church, celebrating holidays and birthdays; taking care of each other and sharing our lives together. Seldom do you meet people that become so entwined in each other’s lives that you are closer to them than your own family. It was truly a blessing to have known Harry in our time together. A loving spirit that will remain a part of my life that remains until we meet across the great divide.

“ To Sandy, Jill, Stuart, and his grandchildren I am so sorry for the loss. Early on in my career Harry was not only a mentor but a true friend. He always talked about the family and opened his home on the lake when I needed a place to stay. He taught me so many life lessons in such a short term. Thoughts and prayers.
